

Critical Moments - Training seminar

Keti with the Scottish trophy, Glasgow 2016

Identifying the critical moment in chess is a difficult skill, problematic even for the strongest GMs. Such opportunities may happen only two or three times a game but can make the difference of an extra half or full point. This training event is intended to help you sense better when the moment has arrived and decide how to act.

The primary focus will be on practical application through solving exercises and playing positions after following demonstrated examples. Aimed at all aspiring players prepared to work hard on improving their game, up to titled level.

Current Scottish Champion GM Keti Arakhamia-Grant and Jonathan Grant, both FIDE Trainers, will run the sessions in conjunction with Edinburgh Chess Club.

Entry:

The fee, whether attending one or more sessions, is £49 for adults and £35 for juniors (U18).
